Time is an element unto itself. It bends and folds back, creating warps in the fabric of space. The use of "Time Warp" lyrics suggests that time is all in the mind, the perspective of the time-space continuum is based on what we, as human beings understand. That understanding is limited, mired in theory and conjecture.

The beginning lyrics say it all,
"It's astounding, Time is fleeting, Madness takes its toll..."

I am a caring mother.

My son is going back to war, as he has done so many times before.

Everyday, I try to keep my thoughts from turning black.

*I may be scared,
but I am proud.*

My son has got your back.

Time is a bandit; it steals from us, those we love and cherish. There are pockets of time; eddies, if you wish, where a river backwashes and stays stagnant. When the one you love disappears into the miasma of time; deployment to a war zone reduces the entire family to a holding pattern. Waiting for him to come home becomes our own personal time warp.

"It's astounding, Time is fleeting, Madness takes its toll...."

WE SLEEP SAFE IN OUR BEDS
BECAUSE ROUGH MEN STAND READY IN THE NIGHT TO VISIT VIOLENCE ON THOSE WHO WOULD DO US HARM
ORWELL

One of the guardians, my son, one of the rough men is home again. The sun rises again in our world. We breathe more deeply, we are no longer prisoners of time; held in the chokehold of fear. No longer in the backwash and eddies of time. The clock begins to tick - again. The second hand sweeps the face - again. Marching forward relentlessly... until the next TIME.

"It's astounding, Time is fleeting, Madness takes its toll..."
